

TCP Process for safeguarding young people and vulnerable adults

If you disagree with the decision that your line manager has taken for whatever reason, then you can inform them of this and let them know that you intend to raise the issue directly with the next person in the chain of responsibility.